WAY COMPANY, WAY COMPANY, His Bed Saturday Morning.

Robert S. Graham, a clerk in the general land office, was found dead in bed at 632 Pennsylvania avenue northwest on Saturday night about 9 o'clock.

From the evidence submitted to the coroner's jury at the inquest held yesterday at 10:30 o'clock, it appears that on Friday morning he received a letter of invitation to attend the anniversary of the Jonadabs in Baltimore on that evening, but he said to his family that he hardly thought he would go, so he did not feel well. He left home, the residence of his stepfather, Gen. S. S. Burdette, in the morning for the office, and as he did not return that evening, it was sup-posed be had changed his mind and had gone to Baltimore.

It appears that on Friday morning, about o'clock, he went to Mrs. Brinkman's, 622 Pennsylvania avenue, and engaged and paid Fennsylvania avenue, and engaged and paid for a room in which to sleep, asking to be called at 5 o'clock p. m. He came down at 4, however, saying he was disturbed, by parties in the adjoining room. He went out and came back about 6 o'clock and asked to be waked at 10 p. m., which was done. He then went out again for a few minutes; then came back and resonanced the room and wont to had. re-engaged the room and went to bed. At a re-engaged the room and went to bed. At 8 a. m. Saturday he cambe down, tried to borrow an umbrella for a few minutes, went out and returned in a few minutes. At 12 o'clock he was heard to call, and pounded upon the door, and a felly in the house responded and found that his knob of the door had fallen outside, so that he could not open it. She replaced the knob, opened the door, when he remarked that it was transparent.

the knob, opened the door, when he remarked that it was a troublesome lock, and asked if there was any one to do an errand for him.

As he smiled pleasantly and spoke rationally, the lady promised to send her little brother to him, which she did in about ten minutes. The boy seen returned, saying that the man said no and was lying on the bed. He left the door ajar, and as Mrs. Brinkman was do overel, thus, during the doy also passed several times during the day she noticed him each time in the same position, and at last began to think something was wrong, and, as he had not stirred at 9 o'clock, asked her husband and Mr. Thomas Maxwell to go up and see him. They did so and found him dead. They immediately reported the case at police headquarters and officers took charge of the body. His watch and money were found upon his person, which was lying on the right side, face buried in a towel and a bottle with a little chloroform lying by his

a bottle with a little chloroform lying by his side. In the stove were found two other lattles, both empty.

A jury was impaneled at about 10:30 yester-day, consisting of Messrs, John M. Shomo, A. T. Langley, R. R. Browner, L. J. Young, F. E. Woodward, and John G. Hammond, the cor-oner, Dr. Patterson, his assistant, Dr. Harti-gan, Dr. Edelin, and Dr. Dobson being pres-ent.

It was ascertained that he had been a great sufferer from an injury to his right eye, caus-ing exeruciating neuralgic pain, and that he often resorted to inhalations of chloroferm to induce sleep, so as to drive away the pain, and that he was not addicted to intoxicating liquors, but was, on the contrary, a prominent Jonabab, and the grand commander of the United Order of the Golden Cross, another temperance organization.

In accordance with the above facts the jury rendered the following verdict: "That inry rendered the following verdict: 'That the said Robert's Graham came to his death accidentally on the twenty-third day of February, 1884, at 622 Pennsylvania avenue orthwest, from an overdose of chloroform self administered for the purpose of relieving overe neuralgic pain, from which he had ultered for many years."

THE LIQUOR QUESTION.

Dicussion on License Before the Senate District Committee.

A hearing on the two pending bills to reglate the sale of liquor in the district was granted by the senate district committee on Saturday. Commissioner West argued in favor of the bill drawn up by himself, while a number of temperance representatives urged the bill of Senator Hoar. Grand Worthy Chief Templar Kalstrom intimated that the commissioners had been derelict in enforcing the liquor laws. The provisions against selling liquor to minors, prohibiting a barroom within 500 feet of a school room, and selling liquor to habitual drunkards were especially urged. Commissioner West did not believe that ex-treme high license was a good remedy, as it would drive men into contraband and illicit trade. He believed $150 per year to be a good figure, and urged that rigid provisions he enacted to prevent retail sales under wholesale licenses. Out of 462 wholesale liquor establishments here, he said, there is re-usen to believe that 200 do an illegitimate retail traffic. Every place where liquor is sold and drank on the premises should be constituted a barroom. The wholesale license hould be increased from $25 to $100 per annum. The present liquor law is a nullity, in conclusion, Mr. West was opposed to the proposition to give the fines to the poor.

Bishop E. G. Andrews, of the M. E. church, Bishop E. G. Andrews, of the M. E. church, said: "Engaged in temperence reform work, we are in the midst of a great battle, which is destined to increase in fury until the final triumph. The forces against us are strong. This is a many-sided issue, First, it is a question of great interest to the public health, since there are thousands each year carried to drunksrds' graves, while those who survive the use of strong drink are enfeabled, and their offspring born with weak physical powers. Total abstinence drink are encebled, and their offspring born with weak physical powers. Total abstinence would do more for the public health than all our "boards of health." Then the public wealth is concerned. There is now squandered on strong drink money which ought to be used in making homes comfortable. We are trying to elevate our people. We deem it wise to spend large amounts of money to educate our children, hence we should banish this axil as they are a two a rose of clear. this evil, so that we may have a race of clear-cyed, intelligent men and women. The drinking usages are antagonistic to all good, and no crime runs riot in the state but is perpetuated by this curse. It is a question of importance to every locality. We cannot expect good laws nor good government when the votors are marched from the saloons and barrooms to the ballot box. Love of country demands our efforts to drive this evil away. Also divine law prompts us to action, as the drink traffic is more in the way of the coming of Christ's kingdom than any other evil.

Dr. J. M. Gregory, civil service commis-sioner, was introduced and said: "In this country public epinion carries forward every great movement, and our efforts should be great movement, and our efforts should be directed toward making public sentiment so in favor of total abstinence as to insure its triumph. It is charged that the temperance people are fighting on the same ground all the time, and are making no progress. This is a mistake. 1:Our opponents point to Maine, and tell us that prohibition has done no good. As well might we ask, since we have spent millions for education, and everybody has not yet been educated, what good has it done? You may say that though we have educated one generation, it has passed away, and now a new one is to be educated. What good is accomplished? It is said that all races of men have some is to be educated. What good is accomplished?
It is said that all races of men have some kind of stimulant, and that the temperance cause is in the face of this natural desire. We all believe in the advancement of the human race, and if we ever rise beyond the present civilization it will be by overcoming the evil passions and appetites of men. Since the liquor dealers stand in the way of human progress they must go down. As we human progress they must go down. As we recently found it necessary to strengthen the Washington monuscut, so we may find in our progress that we must strengthen and deepen the foundations of the contsitution framed for us by our fathers, to prevent it being undermined by the liquor traffic. Capt. Tracy concluded the addresses, after

SHALL WE BURN OUR DEAD? Rev. Dr. Domer, of St. Paul's English

Lutheran Church, Says "No!" The lecture last night at St. Paul's English Lutheran church was listened to by a large and deeply-interested audience. Dr. Domer gave a historic outline of the method of treatment of dead bodies among different people and in different ages, sketching the history of burying, embaiming, and burning, and series of powerful blows, knocking him senseand in different ages, sketching the history of burying, embalming, and burning, and arguing from the nature of things the impracticability, to say the least, of cremation. He described in picturesque colors the famous cemeteries of old and modern times, and

losed as follows:
But why need I refer to ancient cemeteries or those far away as beautiful and as imag-ing-forth Elysian fields, when near our own city are some whose growing beauty already compares well with that of any other in the land or in the world? Bury or burn-which What answer shall we give? Burn? Why? What is the symbol you put before the heart and soul as you permit strangers to take up the departed from your families and to plunge these th them into the glowing, hungry, augry flames? The valley of Hinnom, Tophet, or the Roman Tartarus, were they more truly symbolical of hell than the furnaces which symbolical of hell than the lurinaces which men want to build for our dead? Burn? Never! Bury? Yes; in Elysian fields we lovingly deposit those cherished ones. Beginning of the Season of Penance and Prayer.

To-morrow is known among the church people as Shrove Tuesday, and in olden times it was known as "Shrove-shrift." In England on this day the people were accustomed to confess their sins to the priests, after which they dined on pancakes. The beil rung on this day was called pancake bell. Ash Wednesday follows, and it is the first day of Lent, called by the church fathers "the head of the fast." In the early church "the head of the fast." In the early church it was the ordinary time for sinners entoring a course of public canonical penance, into which they were initiated by the prayers of the bishop, with his clergy, and the imposition of his hands when he laid ashes on the heads of the penitents. This is the origin of the coremony of putting ashes on the foreheads of the penitents, as an emblem of the consecration of the heart to the exercise of penance. Lent will be duly observed by the Catholic and Protestant Episcopal churches. The faithful will be called on to lay aside the worldly amusements and thoughts, and to turn the mind to penitence and prayer. Services in both of these churches will be held regularly every day, and at times twice and three times a day. day, and at times twice and three times a day.

The following regulations for Lent have just been announced for Catholics in the Baltimore diocess by order of the most reverend architecture. archbishop:

All the faithful who have completed their 21st All the fathers who have compared their 21st year are, unless legitimately dispensed, bound to observe the fast of Lent.

They are to make only one meal a day, excepting Sundays.

The meal allowed on fast days is not to be taken followed.

ll about noon. Flesh meat and fish are not to be used at the First meat and fish are not to be used at the same meal during Lent.

A small refreshment, commonly called collation, is allowed if the evening, not to exceed the fourth part of an ordinary meal.

At the collation it is permitted to use bread, all kinds of fruits, saids, and vegetables. The use of butter, cheese, milk, and eggs is also tolerated by virtue of long established custom.

General usage has made it lawful to take in the morning some warm liquids, as ten, coffee, or this checokie made with water and a mouthful of bread.

Necessity and custom have authorized the use

ead. Necessity and custom have authorized the use hog's lard, instead of butter, in preparing perlitted food.

The following persons are exempted from the bigations of fasting: Persons under 21 years of ge; the sick, nursing women; those who are bliged to do hard labor; all who, through weak-cest, cannot fast without great projudice to their ealth. By dispensation the use of flesh mest will be al-health.

By dispensation the use of flesh meat will be allowed at all meals on Sundays, once a day on Mondays. Tuesdays. Thershalps, and Saturdays, with the exception of liely Thursday and the second and last Saturdays of Lent.

Persons dispensed from the obligation of firsting, on account of tender or advanced age, hard labor, or ill health, are not bound by the restriction of using meat only at one meal on days on which its use is granted by dispensation.

The faithful are reminded that, beside the obligation of fasting imposed by the church, this holy season of Lent should be, in an especial manner, a time of earnest prayer, of sorrow for sin, of seclusion from the world and its amusements, and of generous almegiving.

The paschal time extends from the first Sunday of Lent till Trinity Sunday, during which time all Catholies who have attained the use of reason are bound to prepare themselves to receive worthily the holy communion. The holy season of Lent is a very proper lime, also, for children to go to their first contession, which they ought to do generally when about 7 years of age. Parents should see to this.

March 30, confirmation will be administered by the bishop of Iowa. Similar services during Lent will be observed in all the Episcopal churches, varied only by different usages of high and low church. He "Tackled" a Burglar,

Mr. John P. Hamilton, a printer at the government printing office, appeared at his case Saturday morning with his face and head badly battered and bruised. He was soon surrounded by a crowd of his fellow workmen, to whom he related a stirring experience with a big burglar. He said that upon reaching his room about 2 o'clock Saturday morning he went directly to bed, and after being there a short time heard a strange noise. A moment later he was startled by seeing the form of a large man emerge from the later. We will be a large man emerge from the later that the later than the later than Williams, filed a suit on Saturday against Maj W. McE. Dye and Detectives Block and Raff, claiming $10,000 damages. The declaration states that in January last the rooms of the Americus Yacht club, on Thirteenth street, were raided on two charges—one for keeping a gaming table, and the other for permitting gaming on the premises—were lodged against the plaintiff. The cases when called for trial were dismissed—one by the government and the other by the judge. It is understood that a number of suits similar to the one just filed will be commenced as a test of the power and authority of the police.
